CONTEST ON THE BOOM
THE NEXT TWO WEEKS

Special Offer Has Been Received With Approval on all Sides—The

Last Special Offer—Subscriptions Worth as Much Now as on

Last Day of Splendid Contest.

Beginning with Thursday, Aug. 10, a Daily Bulletin will be found in each of the local Post Offices in small cities of the county. This will enable the girls in the country districts to know their standings as they appear in each evening's issue and they will not need to wait for the delivery of the paper on the next morning's mail. This Bulletin will be posted at the Post Office each day and give the standings of the four leaders in each district as they will appear in our Daily Gazette of that evening. Do not worry the Post Office by phone calls but depend on some friend to keep you posted.

All Must Work Hard to Win—Competition Grows Appreciable Look More Promptly as Days Go By.

The proposition of giving double votes for the remaining days of the contest has met with the hearty approval of all the candidates who see an opportunity by this offer to increase their possibilities of winning one of these grand prizes. The voting schedule was increased to stimulate the girls to action and to give them a chance to get big results from small efforts. The girls that will not get a move on themselves to these big inducements to stimulate her to action would hardly be able to help for a crown of glory, and her friends may as well give her up first as last. The Janesville handsome prizes are going to be won by the active, ambitious girls. It is an easy matter for a girl to go out and pick up a few yearly subscriptions to the Gazette. Much easier than many of them think. The ambitious girls who do a little work along this line are the ones that are sure to come out successful in the end.

Get right to work and get your share of the subscriptions to be had only for the asking.

Changing from Semi-Weekly to Daily.

Contestants, remember, anyone who in now a subscriber to our Semi-Weekly is considered a NEW subscriber if he changes to The Daily Gazette must all arrange to be paid first. In case now is paid ahead on the Semi-Weekly this credit will be given him on his Daily. In case the contestant has taken subscriptions for the Semi-Weekly and turned the same into the office and received votes, this payment will be credited on the Daily if the subscriber wishes to change to the Daily. The subscriber will be considered as now and votes issued according to our NEW schedule of votes. The credit which the contestant has already had for the Semi-Weekly subscription turned in the first place, just 15 Days More.

Just 15 days more of the grand Janesville contest; just 15 more days for the different contestants to hustle. No one knows what reserve the contestants have, but there are several contestants in the districts who would be very much surprised to know how well they stand for the grand prizes.

Should the contest close tonight there would not be the difference of a year's subscription for the first prize among several contestants in one district.

If you want to get ahead, and get a good reserve, see your friends and get their subscriptions.

Do not hold these subscriptions back but turn them into this office as soon as you receive them and get the votes that they entitle you to. The inducement just made is a very liberal one and it affords every candidate the rare opportunity to get a goodly reserve laid up for the future.

Don't wait for others to get the votes, but start today and make up for any time that you may have lost waiting for others to vote for you.

People like to help those that help themselves. The contestants are beginning to realize that the difference of a few thousand votes is not a very large margin and are not taking heart by any means. A race is now being fought to the goal is reached, and there is always time for the last competitor to win out.

Remember there are twelve prizes. Do not let slide this opportunity to get one of them.

A great many people do not understand, and for their satisfaction we wish to say that any one starting to take the paper when the contest is new will always be considered a new subscriber during the life of the contest, and votes given accordingly. If you start the paper now and pay something in advance and wish to pay more later during the contest you will receive the same number of votes as a new subscriber.

"Future" Orders.

Don't give up getting a party as a subscriber, simply because he is already taking some other paper for which he has paid in advance. Take his subscription to The Gazette to begin at the expiration of the other paper, and when that time arrives, he will begin to receive The Gazette.

Open Evenings.

For the benefit of those who cannot call during business hours this office and contest department will be open every evening until 8 o'clock.

FARMER AIDS U. S.; A WAGE INCREASE

TILLER OF SOIL HAS BECOME FINANCIAL COLOSSUS SAYS
WILSON.

GREAT STRIDES IN 12 YEARS

Secretary of Agriculture, in Year Book, Shows $177,000,000 Increase in Trade—Farm Wages Advanced More Than Factory Hand's.

Washington, Aug. 10.—James Wilson, of Iowa, secretary of agriculture, the "grand old man" of President Taft's official family, who has been a cabinet officer longer than any other man ever was, says the American farmer is becoming a financial colossus.

During the last 12 years, the period covering the administration of Secretary Wilson, the agricultural balance of trade in the United States increased from a yearly average of $234,000,000 to $411,000,000 or 75.7 per cent, according to the secretary in his year book made public today.

This wonderful development is only in keeping with the progress that has been made along all lines of agricultural activity. At the same time, it is stated, many conditions affecting the lives of the farmers of the country have advanced in even greater ratio until many of the undesirable features of farm life have been eliminated.

Big Strides by Department.
"So increasingly disposed has the public been to ask and receive the aid of the department, and so large have been the new fields of work assigned to it by congress," says Mr. Wilson, "that the number of employees has increased enormously. On July 1, 1887, 2,441 persons were employed, and 11 years later, in 1898, the number was 10,420, or over four times as many."

Among the notable increases were in the bureau of animal industry, from 777 to 3,182 employees, in the forest service from 14 to 3,753, in the bureau of chemistry from 20 to 425 and the bureau of plant industry from 127 to 976. Most of the additional workers in these bureaus are employed outside of Washington, there being 2,188 within and 7,332 outside of this city.

Farm Work Revolutionized.
Many have been the innovations introduced and developed into potential forces for the betterment of farm life during this period, says Mr. Wilson. The entire system by which the work of the agricultural department has been operated has been changed. Never before has the work of state colleges and experiment stations been so intimately related with the department as now.

During these 12 years there has been a great diversification and geographic extension of products, apart from the cultivation of new land. Although there has been a decreasing production per acre of what was only recently virgin soil, there was an increased production per acre of the entire country. This yield per acre of cotton during the ten years ending with 1906 was from a mean of 172 pounds per acre during the preceding ten years to a mean of 191 pounds, or an 11-per cent. increase. Other crops have kept pace with cotton.

Increase in Corn Crops.
Within ten years the production of corn per acre in Ohio increased 17.5 per cent and in Virginia 18.3 per cent. Oats increased 17.9 per cent, in Indiana. Wheat increased 16.2 per cent, in New York and 15.9 per cent, in Nebraska. Similar advancement was made in the yield per acre of other products. In some degree this upward movement began 20 years ago, but in all these it has been marked during the last decade.

Citing the increase in population based upon the families of the native-born, Secretary Wilson declares no one need have fear that the farmers of this country will ever be unable to provide for its population.

"They are already demonstrating, in the cases of various crops and of various states," he says, "that they can provide for a population increasing faster than by increase due to excess of births over deaths."
From 1895 to 1906, he says, farm wages increased faster than did prices. In the matter of wage increase, the farm laborer has fared better than the workman employed in manufacturing and mechanical industries.

"The farmer," says the secretary, "in results of information, intelligence and industry, has thrived mightily. The progress that has been made is in the direction leading to popular and national welfare, to the sustenance of any future population, as well as to a larger efficiency of the farmer in matters of wealth production and saving, and in establishing himself and his family in more pleasant ways of living."

Defeats Commission Government.
Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 19.—The house in committee of the whole killed the bill to provide a commission form of government for Alabama cities. It is anticipated that the house proper will follow the lead thus taken.

Old Man a Bridegroom.
Mount Vernon, Ill., Aug. 19.—James Martin, 82 years of age, of Walnut Hills was married to Samantha McNeil, aged 65, Martin is the oldest man ever granted a marriage license in this county.

VALUE OF RAINS

While many have complained at the excessive rainfall of the past few weeks the intrinsic value to the country at large cannot be over-estimated. A two-day rain at this period of the year makes a difference not only to the value of the growing crops but also to the manufacturers.Precipitation returns show that up to the beginning of August the country was perceptibly short of the normal amount of moisture. A few years ago throughout the middle states a similar shortage so upset the calculations of hydro-electric engineers in their estimates of the available water supply in streams as to constitute a main factor in forcing some of their projects into cancellations.Now that the soil has been thoroughly soaked, the springs filled and the reserve holdings of the uplands and mountain areas replenished, a sense of relief is felt which few people except those who have come in contact with the actual problems arising from deficient water supply can over appreciate. A rainstorm, at this stage of the season, of more than twenty-four hours' duration insures an ample autumn supply of water for municipal needs, thus reducing the necessity of leasing bonds or stocks for extending the drainage area, to which many cities resort for safety. A given area with adequate rains solves temporarily at least the problem of water works financing.But that is not all. An abundance of rainfall at this period of the year, when the soil can take care of it, is an insurance feature of great value because of the connection of the supply of water with the fire protection service of cities. From this viewpoint the drenching of the country, in such fashion as has just prevailed over the territory mentioned, is a preventive service of enormous value to property interests.From the viewpoint of agriculture, a mid-August storm of such heavy rainfall is a most timely agent in saturating the fields destined for winter wheat. Ploughing operations had been suspended in numerous localities because the soil was too dry. Some 20,000,000 acres will be immediately affected by this gift of Jupiter Plu-vus in the midst of a season noted for a display of sweltering heat. It is as if the September equinoctial came three days ahead of time to break the hot spell. The probability also is that the effect of rainfall on temperature will produce so radical an atmospheric change as greatly to mitigate the severity of the heat for the remainder of the summer.IDLE CARS AND CAR SHORTAGE Railroads are continually jumping from the frying pan into the fire. For more than two years they have frankly published every week the number of idle cars throughout the country.
Doleful as the figures seem the silver lining to the cloud broadened as the numbers began to diminish. Now that they are threatening to vanish before we get a good look at them, people are beginning to work themselves into a troubled state of mind over the fear of a car shortage. Even Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce commission is predicting one for the coming year, which is only a little more than four months away.However, the country does not mind being burnt a little by the friction of competition for freight cars. Railwaypeople would no doubt like to know how it feels to have two customers clamoring for the same freight car.
and they need not explain to analysts of their annual statements how they manage to meet all their fixed charges without trenching on their reserves.
They can also come with better heart to Wall street with their offerings of securities than at any time within three years.These new sensations are after all things that men would rather wait for.
With every car groaning under its allowable proportion of freight, gross earnings will mount upward in such fashion as to make the railroads feel that they can do all the double tracking, build all the terminals, and supply all the equipment without begging anybody to take the doubtful end of the bargain. The whole morale of the railway service from top to bottom is feeling the beneficial effects of the grand shift from the idle cars to the days near at hand when the roads will have all that they can do.The poor chap who sells ice-cream comes about the street, placing the cooling dolly with the reach of all at a nickel apiece, feels as though unjust legislation has been inflicted upon him by the enforcement of a $2-a-day license fee when he makes but $1.75.What will Roosevelt say when he sees Taft is a fine wrestler and boxer? Is it possible he will come home and give him a "go" or will he still insist he is the champion?It is hoped that the good, kind people of Rhinias have carpeted the earth with lots of cushions in case any of those daring Aeroplantists take a sudden drop.Mr. Harriman is returning from Europe to get well on American home-cooked food which he declares beats all the foreign hotel stuff ever cooked.So Mr. Heney was really nominated for District attorney of San Francisco by five thousand persons, who wrote his name in the democratic ballot slate.Wall street is not sleeping easy these days since it has been announced that Harriman is coming back home another well man.Uncle Sam might do well to have Dr. Taft make an immediate investigation of the disturbances in his interior Department.Chicago's new chief bellows shican find inspiration for his coming labors by visiting Wisconsin wilds for a week or so.Oklahoma will give a fine big reward to the man who invents a machine for turning off the heat when it is not wanted.Chicago residents are seeking means to have all the railroads combine on their pet project of one vast central depot.No matter what is done to Boston by that invading army of Reds they should spare the sacred emblem of the codfish.If Senator Aldrich changes our money system he must not keep the change that he makes in making the change.Orville Wright and Count Zeppelin will meet in Berlin, but on the ground floor, not in the clouds.Why should that Red army be permitted to go into Boston when the Blues do not want them to?Man proposes, but Senator Aldrich disposes, and when he makes his plans they usually go through.Is it possible that Abruzzi is coming to the United States as the Italian Ambassador?English justice did not keep assensible Dillmuller waiting long for his nocturnal party.America insists that it be permitted to loan China a few million dollars.Uncle Walt of EmporiaBy WALT MASON (Copyright, 1900 by George Matthew Adams.)When Richard Roe was tried in court, the judge remarked: "Stand up, old sport! You've drawn a hundred dollar fine, and it's a deep regret of mine, that I can not more harshly deal—don't you should be broken on the wheel. Your neighbor, William Doe, has told a tale that makes the blood run cold; his testimony shows that you have whipped your good wife black and blue; you punched her nose until it bled, and tore her topknot from her head; you've filled your home with grief and groans—so please cough up a hundred dollars."
And in the home of William Doe, the wife was weeping and wailing, and crying, and saying: "My life is one long stretch of woe! I would that I were Mrs. Roe! Her husband loves her once a year; at other times he is a dour; he doesn't wear an assault coat; he isn't mean, and cross, and sour. I'm hungry for a loving word, and such a thing I've never heard, since William took me as his wife—I'm weary of this empty life!"

WHAT IS YOUR LIFE?

Few of us ever sit down and deliberately take an inventory of our lives.
Some of us are too busy. Some of us never think about it. Some of us shrink from the effort."Where are you at?"
"Take some paper and a pencil and write down faithfully what you have done during the twenty-four hours of the day."Make an accurate record.
If you have merely gone about at your accustomed work write that down, being very careful to note whether or not you have done a good job or a poor one.If you have had a useful thought that would have benefited somebody, did you make it known? If so, put it down in your record to the credit of good intentions.If you have spoken a kind word to some one, cheered a child, put your hand on some man's shoulder by way of encouragement, helped some one by a suggestion, given a dollar in charity, visited the sick, helped to bury the dead or dry an orphan's tear—put it down.If, contrariwise, you have been centrally useless to any one that needed your help, if you have frowned on your task, complained of your life, refused to look on the bright side, neglected to speak the word that would have cheered or to do the turn that would have helped—put that down also.And—
If one day's record contains but little that is good or bad, useful or useless, take a week's record, or a fort-night's.When you have finished read it over.
You will discover, perhaps, on careful reading that you have omitted something.Put it in and read the record over again carefully. Let it sink into your mind.Will you be ashamed? Perhaps.
Will you be proud? Maybe.Anyway, you will have tested the current of your life, its drift and tendency, and from this showing you will be able to read your own character much better than any palmist or fortune teller.Or—If you cannot make up your own judgment as to what your life really is, take the record to a friend and let him judge.What? You shrink from that?
Well, should you conclude to get the friend's judgment, don't get mad when he gives it.

What is your life?

Is it not time you should know?

THE NEW FALL STYLES IN

Women's and Misses Tailored SuitsWe are having an excellent sale of tailored suits bought for fall and winter. Women appreciate the advantage of buying early. Thus far during this month we have sold more suits than we thought it possible to sell so early in the season. If you want a suit there is nothing made by putting it off, as our assortment at the present time is very complete and every sale reduces it just that much. All the new things represented. We have received many compliments on the excellence of our style of suits. We buy from leading manufacturers in New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Philadelphia, from the leading houses who do not peddle their garments but are satisfied to sell the leading merchant in a city. Buying from these different centers gives us a decided advantage over those who confine their purchases to New York and Chicago.It is apparent to any woman that the assortment shown by The Big Store is the largest to be found in Southern Wisconsin.We are prepared to sell you suits at figures ranging in price from $15 to $50. We are exceptionally critical in the buying of our suits. We have the pick of the best manufacturers in the country. The suit business is one in which many mistakes can be made.
We have had 25 years experience, 25 years of comparing notes, 25 years of learning the good from the inferior, 25 years has taught us a great many things about suits that one cannot learn in two or three seasons of selling. We say that this advantage is reflected in the class of garments that we carry. The kind that give satisfaction and make women come back season after season.
This the opportune time to buy your fall suit.

Shirt Waist Weather

The atmosphere these days is just right to make white muslin waists very comfortable.
OUR REDUCED PRICES on all of our long sleeve "STANDARD" 1900 white muslin waists are making the waist section lively. No woman can fail to realize that the prices we are making on these beautiful shirt waists mean a substantial saving. The variety is large enough to satisfy anyone. Some have plain tucks, some tucks and embroidery, others with tucks with lace trimmings. A few with a touch of colored embroidery, some with yoke and lace trimmings. They are all made of superior quality of lawns, the more expensive being beautifully fine with lace and embroidery insertion. All sizes are represented. Buy waists while they last at the following great reductions:

$1.00	.....	90c	$1.75	.....	$1.30	$2.50	.....	$1.95	$3.00	.....	$2.35
$1.25	.....	95c	$2.00	.....	$1.65	$2.75	.....	$2.15	$3.50	.....	$2.85
$1.50	.....	$1.15	$2.25	.....	$1.80

ANOTHER LOT THAT WERE PRICED $4.00 to $10.00—Only a few numbers of each price, similar to the above but made of still finer material and more elaborately trimmed.
All "STANDARD" makes, all new 1900 creations.

$4.00	.....	$2.95	$6.00	.....	$4.45	$7.50	.....	$5.95	$8.50	.....	$6.95
$5.50	.....	$3.95	$7.00	.....	$5.65	$8.00	.....	$6.45	$10.00	.....	$7.95

When we buy
men's clothes to sell
at $15 to $25, we buy the best in the market. If they are not all sold by August we cut the price $5 to $10 rather than carry them over.The saving is large enough to make it worth while. We invite your visit today.R. M. BOSTWICK

Dental Wisdom

Don't have your teeth extracted. Nowadays teeth can be saved. One tooth of your own is worth a bushel basket of false teeth. In most cases the pain of an aching tooth can be stopped and the tooth filled or crowned—to last you for twenty years of good service. Don't think a dentist mercenary because he tells you this. I feel like it is almost criminal to extract teeth when people under misadvice insist upon my doing so. You might just as well have your leg cut off because it aches as to have a tooth pulled just because it pains you. I save teeth.

SATURDAY HIS LAST NIGHT.

Vurpillat will be Here Only Two More Days—Office at 509 W. Milwaukee St. to be Kept Open Sunday. As Vurpillat's visit draws to a close it is apparent more and more each day that the prophecies concerning him which were made before he reached the city, will be borne out in the stupendous amount of medicine that is now being disposed of by this young man.

The reports which are coming to Vurpillat of the wonderful good his remedies are doing for the people of this vicinity are astonishing.

Saturday night will positively be the last night of Vurpillat's free concerts and vaudeville entertainments. This young man will leave behind him a host of friends and well wishers, because of the good his remedies have done them and their friends.

The office at 509 W. Milwaukee St. will be kept open Sunday for the benefit of some who are unable to call during the week. Office hours are from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., where consultation and examination are free to all.

J. P. Baker, the druggist, has been the sole agent for the Vurpillat remedies.

A good program has been arranged for Saturday night, a feature of the entertainment being a contest for the boys.

ENTIRE FAMILY FOUND DROWNED IN ROCK RIVER

JAMES McDONALD, WIFE AND CHILD, OF DELOIT LOST LIVES WHILE ON PICNIC.

WERE SEEN BY A TRAMP

Man And Boy Were Alive at Half Past Four Yesterday Afternoon—Bodies Recovered Today.

What was to have been a merry outing and picnic up the Rock river from Deloit yesterday afternoon resulted in the drowning of James McDonald, his wife, Elizabeth, and their twelve-year-old son, Raymond, their bodies being recovered from the bottom of the river by the Deloit police this morning.

The first word of the tragedy came to the Deloit police late yesterday afternoon when a tramp who was stealing a ride on the freight which reaches Deloit about five o'clock, reported having seen a man and boy struggling in the water near an overturned boat some miles up the river. Nothing was thought of the matter until later the boat the McDonalds had rented was found floating on the river.

As far as can be learned James McDonald and wife rented a boat at three o'clock yesterday afternoon to go up the river for a picnic. They were seen about four o'clock near the intersection railroad bridge, and some where along the bank they picked up their son, Raymond. The next news of them came from the tramp who saw them some distance further up the stream.

The body of Mrs. McDonald was found about ten o'clock this morning near the spot described by the tramp and later the boy's remains were fished up, but it was not until half past one that the body of the man was discovered. All three were in twenty feet of water.

McDonald was employed in the Warner instrument company at Deloit and was very highly thought of. His wife was formerly a Miss Murray, and was a cousin of Hugh Murray, who was killed at the P. H. Hohenadel, Jr., factory here last week.

Deloit Attorney J. L. Fisher went to Deloit this noon and investigated the drowning which he decided was purely accidental and no inquest will be held.

FAMILY DESERTED A TEN-YEAR-OLD BOY

George Warner and Second Wife Alleged to Have Left Son, Willie, to Shift for Himself.

George Warner, variously employed by the Street Car Co. and at the rug factory, and his second wife are alleged to have calmly packed up their goods and chattels and removed to Rockford, leaving Mr. Warner's ten-year-old son, Willie, to shift for himself. The sixteen-year-old daughter by the first wife is employed at the shoe factory and a fourteen-year-old daughter has found a home in the country, but the boy is practically left dependent upon charity for food and shelter, his earnings with a boot-black box and selling newspapers being insufficient to provide him with the necessities of life. He would have gone hungry all day yesterday if some of his acquaintances among the businessmen had not turned up a small sum of money to relieve his immediate wants.

At the suggestion of the second wife Warner endeavored some months ago to have Willie sent to a reformatory and the boy was willing to take a chance on finding, even in such a place, an abode that would be more congenial to him, where he would not be punished for failing to earn $2 a week to pay for his board, but inasmuch as there was no evidence to show that he was a bad boy or incorrigible, the court could take no action. Foremaster Anderson will try to find a home for him some where in the country.

WILL "OWN" THEATRE HERE OR BUILD ONE

Klaw & Erlanger, the So-called Theatrical Trust, Issues an Ultimatum to Peter L. Myers.

Klaw & Erlanger, the so-called "theatrical trust," demands that the Myers theatre be given over entirely to its attractions and threatens, if this demand is not heeded, to build an opposition playhouse in Janesville. For some years the Janesville theatre has been one of the two or three independent opera-houses in the state of Wisconsin, and in recent times by far the larger number of its first-class offerings have been Shubert attractions.

The Klaw & Erlanger firm is primarily a booking agency and extorts a large fee, sometimes as high as 5 per cent of the gross receipts, for all of its bookings, while no charge whatever is made by the Shuberts. Manager Peter L. Myers has received from the K. & E. New York office a letter which closes with the following threat:

"It is for you to determine whether you want the Shubert attractions or ours, if you prefer doing business with them, be as frank with us as we have been with you, because it will necessitate our getting a theatre of our own in Janesville. There can be no misunderstanding about this. This policy has been maintained by us ever since we have been in business."

Mr. Myers will probably refuse to surrender his right to book whatever attractions he pleases in his own playhouse.

BOX-CAR PARTY IN COURT TODAY

Evelyn Thorson and Tom Hogan Brought Back from Mineral Point by Sheriff Scheibel—Hearings Tomorrow.

Sheriff R. G. Scheibel arrived here from Mineral Point this morning with sixteen-year-old Evelyn Thorson and Tom Hogan in tow. The pair are alleged to have accompanied "Child" Blow and Jennie Jacobson on an afternoon midnight box-car excursion to the scene of the street carnival celebration on Tuesday. Miss Jacobson, having reached years of discretion, was not molested. She and Mr. Blow and some of their friends from Janesville are said to have been at the Mineral Point depot to bid the prisoners a sad farewell.

The girl tried to be very contrite and tearful in municipal court this morning, but elicited little sympathy. She was brought up on an old complaint charging her with frequenting the company of lascivious persons and notorious rascals. Between sobs she took occasion to deny that she had journeyed with Hogan, in a box-car, to Mineral Point, insisting that she rode part of the way on a train and paid her fare. Her hearing was set for tomorrow morning and being unable to furnish $200 bail bonds, she was remanded to county jail.

Hogan pleaded not guilty to the complaint charging him with a statutory offense and his hearing was set for tomorrow afternoon. He, also, was unable to furnish $200 bail and will remain in the battle pending the court proceedings.

MISS HAMILTON AND HERBERT HORNEFFER

Janesville Young Lady Was Wedded Last Evening to Milwaukee Man by Rev. Laughlin.

Last evening at eight o'clock Miss Margaret N. Hamilton was united in marriage to Herbert G. Horneffer of Milwaukee, the ceremony being performed at the Presbyterian parsonage by Rev. J. W. Laughlin. Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Barless and W. G. Horneffer, father of the groom, of Milwaukee, witnessed the ceremony and accompanied the bridal couple to Milton Junction, where they took the train for Madison, going from there to Pelican Lake. Miss Hamilton is the daughter of Mrs. D. M. Barless and has a host of friends in this city. The groom is a well-travelled young man, employed as a traveling salesman in western territory. During the coming year, Mrs. Horneffer will reside in the city at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Barless. The best wishes of a large circle of friends are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Horneffer.

THIRTY WAIFS FROM CHICAGO EXPECTED

Club of Household Economics Have Arranged for Two Weeks' Outing for Them.

By the twentieth train from Chicago tomorrow thirty little waifs will arrive to be the guests of the Club of Household Economics for the next two weeks. They come from the Commons settlement, which is conducted by Graham Taylor, the Chicago University professor who gave up his career to work among the poor of Chicago. These little people are to be taken into the homes of the members for two weeks, two in each family, although some will have a taste of farm life. Two go to members in Avon and two to Beloit township. Thus far all have been arranged for and the members of the club feel quite gratified at the way in which their proposition to give these little city people a change of air and food has been met with. There are eight boys in the party and these will be sent to farms.

DIRECTORS TO MEET TO DECIDE MATTER

Secretary Kline Calls Gathering of Board of Directors of Y. M. C. A. for Next Week.

In view of the fact that many of the business men of the city have signed and presented a petition to the directors of the Y. M. C. A. asking that P. E. Birch, the present physical director, be retained for another year, Secretary J. C. Kline of the association has notified the members of the board of directors that there will be a meeting of that body the first of the coming week. The delay is occasioned by the fact that several members of the board are out of the city and will not be back before that date. The crusade for the retention of Mr. Birch has been conducted entirely by business men who were members of his athletic classes last winter, and a number of members of his junior classes. Mr. Birch, himself, knew nothing of the movement and it was well understood that it was against his own personal wishes that such a decided stand had been taken in his behalf. The list which was signed by men who have personally come in touch with Mr. Birch evidences the interest these gentlemen take in his being retained and it is earnestly hoped the board of directors will seriously consider it.

CHAPTER XXXI. THE SHIP THAT PASS.

THE next morning was rainy. A quick, violent storm had rushed up from the sea during the night.

Chase, after a sleepless night, came down and, without waiting for his breakfast, hurried out upon the gallery overlooking the harbor. Geneva was there before him, pale, watery, heavy-eyed, standing in the shelter of a huge pillar.

"Hollingsworth," she said dreadingly, "do you believe he will come today?"

"He?" she asked, puzzled.

"My uncle. The yacht was to call for me not later than today."

"I remember," he said slowly. "It may come, Geneva. The day is young."

She clasped his hand convulsively, a desperate hope in her soul.

"I almost hope that it may not come for me," she said, her voice shaking with suppressed emotion. "It will not come. I feel it in my heart. We shall die here together, Hollingsworth. Ah, in that way I may escape the other life. No, no! What am I saying? Of course I want to leave this dreadful island—this dreadful, beautiful, hateful, happy island. Am I not too silly?"

She was speaking rapidly, almost hysterically, a nervous, flickering smile on her face.

"Dear one," he said gently, "the yacht will come. If it should not come today my cruelties will forestall its mission. As sure as there is a sea those cruelties will come."

She looked into his eyes intently, as if afraid of something there. "Oh, I'm not mad!" she laughed. "You brought a cruiser to me one day. I'll bring one to you in return. We'll be quits."

"Quite!" she murmured, hurt by the word.

"Forgive me," he said, humbled.

"Hollingsworth," she said after a long, tense scrutiny of the sea, "how long will you remain on this island?"

"Perhaps until I die—if death should come soon. If not, then God knows how long."

"Listen to me," she said intensely. "For my sake you will not stay long. You will come away before they kill you. You will promise me. You will come—to Paris? Some day, dear heart? Promise!"

"To Paris?" he said, shaking his head sadly. "No, dearest one. Not now. Listen! I have in my bag up stairs an offer from a great American corporation. My headquarters would be in Paris. My duties would begin as soon as my contract with Sir John Brodney expires. The position is a lucrative one; it presents unlimited opportunities. I am a comparatively poor man. The letter was forwarded to me by Sir John. I have a year in which to decide."

"And you will decline?" she asked.

"Yes, I shall go back to America, where there are no princesses of royal blood. Paris is no place for the disappointed, cast-off lover. I can't go there. I love you too much. I'd go on loving you, and you, good as you are, would go on loving me. There is no telling what would come of it. It will be hard for me to stay away from Paris—deplorably hard. Sometimes I feel that I will not be strong enough to do it, Geneva."

"But Paris is huge, Hollingsworth," she argued insistently, an eager, compelling light in her eyes. "We would be as far apart as if the ocean were between us."

"Ah, but would we?" he demanded. "It is almost unheard of for an American to gain entrée to her—to the set in which—well, you understand," she said, blushing painfully in the consciousness that she was touching his pride. He smiled sadly.

"My dear, you will do me the honor to remember that I am not trying to get into your set. I am trying to induce you to come into mine. You won't be tempted, so that's the end of it. Really don't, isn't it?" He uttered the trite commonplace as if no other thought than that of the weather had been in his mind. "By the way," he resumed, with a most genial smile, "for some queer, unmasculine reason I took it into my head last night to worry about the bride's trousseau. How are you going to manage it if you are unable to leave the island until—well, say June?"

She returned his smile with one as sweetly detached as his had been, catching his spirit. "So good of you to worry," she said, a defiant red in her cheeks. "You forget that I have a position trousseau at home. A few stitches here and there, an alteration or two, some smart summer gowns and hats—Oh, it will be so simple! What is it? What do you say?"

He was looking eagerly, intently toward the long, low headland beyond the town of Ararat.

"The smoke! See? Close inshore, a steamer off there. She's a small one, or she wouldn't run so close. It—it may be the yacht! Wait! We'll soon see. She'll pass this point in a few minutes."

"Already the citizens of the town were rushing to the pier. Even before the vessel turned the point the watchers at the chateau witnessed a most amazing performance on the dock. Half a hundred natives dropped down as if stricken, scattering themselves along the narrow pier."

"The people were simulating death! They were posing as the victims of the plague that infested the land! As he was explaining the ruse to his mystified companion the nose of the vessel came out from behind the tree covered point."

An instant later they were sending wild cries of joy through the chateau, and people were rushing toward them from all quarters.

The trim white thing that glided across the harbor, graceful as a bird, was the marquis' yacht!

It is needless to describe the joyous gale that swept the chateau into a madhouse of emotions.

They saw the tug put out to meet the small boat; they witnessed the same old maneuvers; they sustained a chill of surprise and despair when the bright white and blue boat from the yacht came to a stop at the command from the tug.

There was an hour of parleying. The beleaguered ones signaled with despairing energy. The tug, limp in the damp air above the chateau, shot up and down in pitiful eagerness.

But the small boat edged away from close proximity to the tug and the nearby dock. They spoke each other at long and ever widening range. At last the yacht's bow turned and fled toward the trim white hull.

Almost before the startled, dazed people on the balcony could grasp the full and horrible truth the yacht had lifted anchor and was slowly headed out to sea.

Chase looked grimly about him into the questioning, stricken faces of his companions. He drew his hand across his moist forehead.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said seriously and without the faintest intent to jest. "We are supposed to be dead!"

There was a single shriek from the bride of Thomas Saunders. No sound left the dry lips of the other watchers, who stood as if petrified and kept their eyes glued upon the disappearing yacht.

"They have left me here to die!" came from the stiffened lips of the Princess Geneva. "They have deserted me! God in heaven!"

"Look!" cried Chase, pointing to the dock. Half a dozen glasses were turned in that direction.

The dying and the dead were leaping about in the wildest exhibition of gleeful triumph.

The yacht slipped into the unreachably horizon, the feathery cloud from its stack lying over against the leaden sky, shaped like a finger that pointed mockingly the way to safety.

White faced and despairing, the watchers turned away and dragged themselves into the splendid halls of the building they had now come to regard as their tomb.

All day long the islanders rejoiced. Their shouts could be plainly heard by the besieged. Their cries cracked and rang like battle cries from the forest. But-lets whistled gay accompaniments to the ceaseless song: "Allah is great! Allah is good!"

No man in the despoiled house of Taswell Skaggs slept that night. The guard was doubled at all points open to attack. At 2 in the morning Deppingham, Browne and Chase came up from the walls for coffee and an hour's rest. "They were wet and cold. They had heard Russia's millions shouting derisively all night long: 'Where is the warship? Where is the warship?' 'It will come, I am positive,' said Chase, insistent in spite of his dejection. They drank their coffee in silence. He knew that the others, including the native who served them, were regarding him with the pity that one extends to the valiant but weary warrior who goes down with flying colors. He went out upon the west gallery and, utterly fagged, threw himself into an unexposed chair and stared through

A shout arose to his lips, but he lacked the power to give it voice.

His eyes into the inscrutable night that hid the sea from view—the fatigues, mounting, feeling sad!

When he roused himself with a start the gray, drizzly dawn was upon him. He had slept.

The next instant he was on his feet, clutching the stone balustrade with a grip of iron, his eyes starting from his head. A shout arose to his lips, but he lacked the power to give it voice.

A faint smile grew in his face. His eyes were bright and full of triumph. After a full minute of preparation he made his way toward the breakfast room outwardly as calm as a May morning.

Browne and Deppingham were asleep in the chairs. He shook them vigorously. As they awoke he said in the coolest, most matter of fact way: "There's an American cruiser outside the harbor. Get up!"

HARDENING OF ARTERIES.

That a man is as old as his arteries is a well established physiological fact. Hardening of the arteries, caused by deposit from the blood of mineral matter that gradually destroys the resiliency of the blood vessels, and thus makes them incapable of circulating the blood, is the ultimate cause of death. This condition is brought about by the secondary effects of auto-intoxication. The chief contributing causes are, over-indulgence in meat, white bread, beans, eggs and water containing an excess of mineral matter. Bad mental conditions, excessive exercise, weak circulation, undue exposure, and alcoholism are also efficient contributory causes.

The natural remedies for arteriosclerosis are: Fresh fruits, especially the apple, distilled water, buttermilk, vegetable oil, fresh air and bathing, vibratory exercise, fasting and optimism.

START AUTOMOBILE RACES ON INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY

Motor Contests To-day Viewed by Record-Breaking Crowd—Noted Drivers Participate.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 19.—When the official starter at noon today sent the dare-devil drivers of the automobiles away in the first race and opened Indianapolis' new motor speedway, what probably will be the greatest meeting of its kind in the history of the sport was begun.

The speedway itself is a marvel and must be seen to be properly appreciated. A track more than 60 feet wide and 2 1/2 miles in circumference with a straightaway course of more than a mile at the finish was covered by the high-powered speed devourers. The practice work augurs well for the smashing of many records.

Oldfield, Strang, Dewitt, Zengel, De Palma, Chevrolet, Miller, Ryall, Burman, Mowson, Lytle, Helms, Aitken, Bourque, Denison, and the two amateurs, Arthur Greiner and Ed Hearno of Chicago, form a galaxy of speed stars of a caliber that can not be surpassed.

The racing began before a record-breaking crowd. There are five events on the program today. The 250-mile race is the feature but the ten-mile free-for-all handicap, which has 29 entries was expected to furnish enough thrills for even the most blasé speed-mad spectator.

NOT A HERO; SAVED HIMSELF.

Sailor Who Leaped from Stranded Ship, Scorns the Role.

New York, Aug. 19.—After 26 hours of wild battling with the sea, alone on a drifting wave-swept raft, Madden Parson, the sailor of the Arlington which went ashore in the storm off Long Beach Tuesday, has been saved. He was landed in this city by the schooner Irons Mary, which docked at the foot of Rockman street.

When he landed Parson drank six cups of coffee, ate four meals in one, borrowed a clay pipe and fell asleep. When told that the newspaper accounts of the wreck of the Arlington made him a hero who had jumped overboard for the purpose of taking a line ashore, he laughed—a rumbling, touchy sort of a laugh. "I ain't no hero," he declared simply. "I jumped to save myself. I never thought the rest would get off. It looked like we would all get drowned."

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 19.—Alonso Perry, a negro, was arrested in a lumber camp near Cadillac, Mich., charged with the murder of Gambler Lauson, seven years ago in Lansing, Mich., for which John Teller was tried and acquitted, with Perry taking the role at the trial of principal witness for the prosecution.

To Prevent Smoke.

Here is a hint on preventing the smoke that usually accompanies adding fresh fuel to an open fire or grate. When adding the new wood put it at the back, drawing the pieces already burning to the front to keep in the heat and prevent smoke.

NEW JOB FOR MESSENGER BOY.

Washington Woman Calls One to Button Her Dress.

Washington, Aug. 19.—A new role for the messenger boy has been invented by a society woman who lives in a fashionable apartment house. Dressed by her maid only an hour or so before she was due at a dinner party this woman did some quick thinking, the result of which was a call for a messenger boy.

This youth nearly fainted when he learned he was wanted to help button the woman's dress up the back. With a muttered exclamation that he lost to history he set to work, however, and accomplished his task to the satisfaction of his fair patron.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the strength-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your druggists. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE mystery about advertising has been solved, and the discoverer found that there was no mystery about it.

Advertising is just a part of the business, as much so as the factory and the goods, and no more.

You can't do business without something to sell, a place to sell it in, salesmen, and an additional something which is accessory to the salesman and to business-getting in general, and that something is advertising.

Everybody advertises, even those who say that they don't.

Those who use the Gazette reach most everybody in this entire community.

FIRST WOMAN CHOSEN TO HEAD GREAT SCHOOL SYSTEM. Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, who succeeds President E. G. Cooley, resigned, as head of the Chicago schools.

Chicago.—By an unanimous vote of the school board, Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, principal of the Chicago Normal school, was chosen to succeed Superintendent E. G. Cooley, resigned. Mrs. Young is the first woman in the United States to be elected to the superintendency of a metropolitan school system. By this vote she was promoted from a position paying $5,000 a year to one paying $10,000.

VACATION TIME. Heat expands, cold contracts. We learned when kids together; but pocketbooks never expand. They contract this sultry weather. Find another spender.

Valuable Suggestion. It is said that severe paroxysms of coughing may be arrested by giving the patient a teaspoonful of glycerine in a wineglass of hot milk. This is one of the simple remedies which are dear to the heart of the 'practical' woman, and it is so easy to remember that it may serve to alleviate the suffering of some unfortunate.

Too Possibilities. "I have just had an invitation to an electrical tea to be given by a woman doctor," said the bachelor girl. "I'm looking forward to it and wondering what is going to happen to us—whether she will give us a little battery and let us entertain ourselves, make the tea on an electric stove, or use electricity the touch of us."

DEATH ENDS A STRANGE LIFE.

Man Who Became Recluse Day Lincoln Freed Slaves Leaves $100,000. Louisville, Ky., Aug. 19.—News has come to this city of the death at Greenbrier, Nelson county, of David Hayden, who had not stepped outside the picket fence bounding his yard since President Lincoln freed the slaves. It was not resentment at this act that caused Hayden's seclusion, for neighborhood tradition says he shut himself in a little room that day in 1863 after his sweetheart died and looked no more upon men. He had an estate which will amount to nearly $100,000, in clothes and pillows and cast-off clothing. An overseer of Hayden's estate named Borders was the only human being who the recluse saw, and Borders has declared the words he exchanged with the recluse in a score of years can be enumerated upon his fingers.

SLAIN THEN SET ON FIRE.

Rich Farmer's Body Badly Burned After He Was Shot. Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—The body of Robert Staub, 45 years old, a wealthy dairy farmer of Wilkins township, was found at his home with a bullet wound in the head and the legs badly burned. It is believed the man was murdered and the house fired to hide a probable robbery. Discovery of the crime was made by George Staub, brother of the victim, residing on an adjoining farm, who was attracted to his brother's home by the fire.

Woman Is Strangely Missing. Worcester, Mass., Aug. 19.—Word was received here that Mrs. A. R. Holt, who accompanied the Worcester Board of Trade excursion to Seattle, Wash., leaving this city August 4, disappeared after the party reached Seattle and has not yet been found. The party is now in Portland, Ore.

Toeing the Mark.

WHEN the ball game had been finished one of the members of the club sought the manager to say: "When we first went on the grounds today a mighty handsome girl made eyes at me." "Then you are fined five dollars, sir. I have taken hold of this club to bring it back into something like discipline." "Then she smiled at me." "That's five dollars more." "I returned the smile." "I saw you and that's ten, Discipline shall be maintained." "Then she flirted with her palm leaf." "Five dollars, sir—five dollars." "And I raised my top to her." "Another five." "Then she sent me a note by a boy, 'Perhaps you saw him?'" "I did, and I had already fined you ten dollars." "The note read—'" "Oh, it read, did it? That's another five. This club has got to toe the mark or disband." "The note asked me whether I was playing baseball or football, and who that good-looking fellow over there—meaning you—was." "Um, Mr. your fines aggregate forty-five dollars, but owing to the fact that you have done your best to assist me in maintaining discipline and reaching a high standard they are remitted, leave one with me." Brittingham & Alton Lumber Co. QUICK DELIVERERS. BOTH PHONES 117. Everything in Building Material

The Aircraft of Glenn Curtiss, which is to defend America in European airplane tests. Milled, N. Y.—While there are hundreds of airplane builders in the United States, three figures stand out most prominently through the results they have accomplished, the Wright brothers and Glenn H. Curtiss. Already complications have arisen over patents between the Wright brothers and Curtiss. Curtiss claims the patents are his, as do also the Wright brothers, and a friendly suit will undoubtedly soon be launched to determine which of the inventors had their design filed in Washington first. The similarity between the two styles of airplane is most pronounced, though there is one fundamental difference. The Wright brothers start their airplane with a mono-rail, while Curtiss starts his over any place of smooth ground upon which automobile wheels can travel. This is a great advantage in the Curtiss airplane over the Wright brothers. Another difference in which the Curtiss machine differs from the Wrights' is in the stability of the airplane in the air. Through an ingenious device the Curtiss airplane stops abruptly in mid-air the minute the engines cease their revolution, with the result that it drops gradually and lightly to the earth and makes a more graceful landing than does any other ship so far invented. Curtiss has just sailed for Europe with his airplane to defend America in the European tests. The aviation meet, the date of which is Aug. 22 to 29, inclusive, will be the most notable event of the kind ever held. For the first time all of the flying machine inventors of the world will have an opportunity to meet in competition. It was a disappointment to the Aero Club of America when, several months ago, the Wrights were compelled to decline to champion the club in those races on account of business engagements; but the club is fortunate in being able to send Mr. Curtiss as its representative. While Mr. Curtiss has not achieved the records of several other inventors, his progress has been so marked that much is expected of him.
